Between 20 and 23 April 1954, source determined that about 80,000 DM east had been allotted for the construction of new buildings and reconditioning work at the camp northeast of Jamlitz at Lieberose troop training grounds. Observed were the construction of a new kitchen building, and reconditioning work on the bathing installation, transformer station, waterworks, club, PK and kitchen buildings. On 23 April, the camp northeast of Jamlitz quartered about 400 engineer troops under the command of Senior Lieutenant Asiskin (fnu). The troops engaged in reconditioning work on the quarters. It was expected the camp would be occupied in late April or at the beginning of May. On 21 April, 3 JS-3 tanks and motor vehicles entered the camp.<sup>1</sup>

On 17 April, source determined that the southern garage of the Eichhorn Kaserne (4446) in Frankfurt/Oder, which had been converted into a warehouse was to be occupied by a Soviet unit from Wuensdorf.

On 17 April, source determined that construction work by craftsmen at the barracks installation north of Drachhausen was to be completed by 15 May.

After 20 April, army clothing depot No I (4244) in Bernau was again occupied to capacity. Activity there tended to indicate that the trained personnel was to undergo an inspection. A lieutenant colonel and a major tested the troops in infantry service, aiming and chemical warfare.

On 22 April, Kech officer Major Menkevich (fnu) and one Rauenheimer (fnu) the chief of the special construction office, inspected the work at the installation.<sup>2</sup>

The following troop trains passed through Lychen railroad station:

At about 10 p.m. on 14 April, 6 flatcars with 12 guns, flatcars with sideracks with about 25 trucks and 4 boxcars with troops, en route toward Templin from the direction of Fuerstenberg.

At about 6:30 p.m. on 23 April, 8 flatcars with 8 guns, 2 flatcars with 4 AT guns, 12 to 15 flatcars with sideracks with 25 to 30 trucks and a field kitchen and 6 boxcars with troops, en route toward Fuerstenberg from the direction of Templin.<sup>3</sup>

1. [ ] Comment. The reconditioning of the camp northeast of Jamlitz indicates that the camp will soon be occupied by the 7th Gds Mech Div. The 13th Mech Div, too, was scheduled to transfer to the summer camp in early May. [ ] 25X1A
